New Zealand / The final challenge

Until 1953, nobody had climbed Mount Everest, the highest mountain in the world. Then in 1953, the mountaineer Edmund Hillary and the Nepalese Tenzing Norgay succeeded in reaching the summit. In the next thirty years there were other Everest 'firsts', including the first solo climb and the first climb by a woman.

All these people had taken bottles of oxygen to help them climb, but many mountaineers wanted to climb using their natural ability, without oxygen. Two of these were Reinhold Messner and Peter Habeler. In 1975, they amazed people by climbing Gasherbrum, the 11th highest mountain in the world, without oxygen.

When Messner and Habeler started planning to climb Everest without oxygen, other climbers called them foolish. They warned them that the oxygen levels at the top of Everest were so low that breathing would be difficult, and that the men would risk brain damage if they did this. However, Messner and Habeler did not listen, and made their first attempts in April 1978. After two failures, they nearly gave up, but decided to make a final attempt.

Climbing Everest

Independence Day, May 25, 2008, was very special. On that day, Mustafa Salameh Mahmoud became the first Jordanian man to climb Mount Everest. He has now climbed all seven of the world's highest mountains and so has joined an elite club. Apart from exhaustion and a little frostbite, Mr. Mahmoud was in good health and very happy after the five-day climb.

For much of the climb Mr. Mahmoud had been fighting extreme cold, strong winds, dizzying heights and dangerously low levels of oxygen. he was able to reach the top of Mount Everest and plant the Jordanian flag at the summit. It was very difficult, but he knew he had a great team supporting him and this helped him to keep going.

Mr Mahmoud had begun the trip at the Everest Base Camp in Tibet and carried with him heavy climbing equipment, oxygen tanks, food and a Jordanian flag presented by His* Royal Highness Prince Faisal. It was his third attempt at the summit, and he had been preparing for it for many months. The first try had nearly killed him and the second ended through illness. He knew it would be the hardest thing he had ever done and was nervous despite the fact that he was an experienced climber.

When asked why he had kept on trying, Mr. Mahmoud told reporters that he wanted to inspire the next generation of Arab youth to believe in their "impossible" dreams. His efforts were noticed at home, and King Abdullah donated sponsorship money for the expedition. This sponsorship had allowed him to give up his job and train for a year to reach the very high levels of fitness needed to climb the huge mountain.

5. The writer thinks that Mr Mahmoud and other is distinguished person .explain this suggesting three qualities of the person who wants to climb a Mountain

- Mr Mustafa is distinguished because he was able to be the first Jordanian to climb Everest and he climbed all the seven of the world's heights mountains . The person who wants to climb a mountain should be well trained , self confident and also he should be mentally and physically fitted.

6. There are many kinds of Everest firsts . Write down two of these kinds

Text B " The End of the village نهاية حياة قرية

When large numbers of people move from their homes in country areas to find better-paid jobs in towns and cities, the villages and farms they once lived in are often left empty .No one wants to buy homes there because they cannot make money out of them. This phenomenon which is called rural depopulation, can lead to overcrowding in cities as well as for fewer people in country areas.

One example of this phenomenon is the Garrigues area of Spain, about one hour's drive from Barcelona. The area has a Mediterranean climate, but because it is high and not close to the sea, winter temperatures are quite low. The area has an annual rainfall level of 482mm which falls in only 47 days of the year, during the autumn and spring. Historically, this was a successful agricultural area; on the higher ground the farmers grew almonds and vines, while in the river valleys, wheat, corn, beans and sunflowers were the traditional crops. The area was particularly well-known for its high-quality olive oil which was grown mainly for export.

The population of the area was at its highest about 150 years ago, when a typical village might have 500 inhabitants, whereas now some villages have as few as 100 permanent inhabitants. But as farming became less and less profitable, and unemployment grew the population began to move to the cities to find work. This trend started in 1860 and has continued to this day. Now some villages consist mainly of elderly people. The area is suffering from the effects of depopulation, such as poor public services and deserted farms .

In some parts of Europe in recent years, however, the move from the country to the city has been reversed as wealthy people move to the countryside to escape from the overcrowding, pollution and stress of city life. Some are moving permanently, but many are buying holiday or weekend homes which are empty for much of the year

Question number one :

- 2- There are two results of rural depopulation , write them down
overcrowding in cities as well as for fewer people in country areas.
- 3- Wealthy people emigrate to the countryside for many reasons . write down two of them
-stress. Overcrowding and pollution of the city
- 4- Write down the sentence which shows that people have been moving from the country to the city for a long time.
This trend started in 1860 and has continued to this day
- 5- The underlined pronoun " which " paragraph one refers to
- This phenomenon
- 6- Find a word in the third paragraph which means the same as " making money " .
Profitable
- 7- There are two reasons for rural depopulation , write these two reasons down
Farming became less and less profitable and unemployment grew
- 8- There were many products in Garrigues area . Write down two of these products
Almonds and vines
- 9- There are many characteristics of Garrigues area . write down two of them
a. The area has a Mediterranean climate
b. Winter temperatures are quite low
- 10- The writer believes that city life is a stressful life . explain this statement suggesting three ways of making city life less stressful
- I think the writer is right because many of the city people move from the city to the country because of the stress . I think we can make city life less stressful in many different ways , for example , we can reduce the traffic and we can reduce pollution . Also , parks should be built in every neighborhood so that people can gain peace .

-Critical thinking

-living in the country is better than living in the city . Think of this statement and write down two sentences to show your point of view.

- I agree with this because the country is more peaceful , quieter and more healthy than the city .It is also a better place for children because they can live with the nature.

Text C : Steve Fossesst

In 2002, Steve Fossett became the first person to travel solo round the world in a hot air balloon. His balloon, The Spirit of Freedom used a mixture of helium and hot air and was 42 meters high and 18 metres wide. To keep it at a constant altitude, the balloon used a sophisticated autopilot system controlled by a computer.

Fossett's journey started in Western Australia. From here, he crossed the Pacific Ocean, traveling in an easterly direction. On reaching South America, he traveled across Chile and down round Argentina. He flew over the Southern Atlantic Ocean towards South Africa, then over the Indian Ocean to reach Australia.

This record-breaking solo journey took only 14 days, 19 hours and 50 minutes altogether, but conditions for Steve Fossett were not comfortable. He only slept for four hours in every 24-hour period, and never slept for more than 45 minutes at one time. Fossett frequently had to leave his tiny cabin to go outside, where air temperatures were below freezing, in order to check that the balloon's burners were working properly. By the time he arrived in Australia, he had travelled 33,195 km.

Steve Fossett was especially pleased with this successful round-the-world journey as it was his sixth attempt. On the journey, Fossett also broke the world speed record for a manned balloon flight: on one occasion the balloon travelled at 322.25 kmh. His first attempt had been six years earlier in 1996.

In addition to this record, Steve Fossett holds four other world records for non-stop Journeys round the world: as a sailor, and as a solo air pilot. All in all, Fossett has set 110 records in five different sports.

Question Number two .

1. According to the text, Fossett crossed many oceans through his journey. Write down two of them?

Pacific ocean and Atlantic ocean

2. According to the text, Fossett's balloon used two kinds of gases to fly. Write them down .

Helium and hot air.

3. Write down the sentence which indicates that it was impossible for Fossett to sleep for long periods on the journey ?

He only slept for four hours in every 24-hour period and never slept for more than 45 minutes at one time.

4. Find a word in the text that means "alone"

- solo

5. What does the underlined pronoun "it" in paragraph four refer to?

This successful round the world journey

6. According to the text, the writer thinks that Steve Fossett was a record record breaker. Explain this statement and suggest three qualities of the person who wants to break a record

- I think the writer is right because Fossett was able to set 110 records in five different sport. There are many qualities of the person who wants to break records , for example , he should be courageous and adventurer . Also he should put a goal for him and try to achieve it.

Critical thinking:

Record-breaking is an ambition desired by every adventurer. Think of this statement and, in two sentences, write down your point of view.

Every adventurer dreams of breaking a record because this will make him famous and well-known , While also he will prove that he is the best in his field and gain self-confidence.

Text D العواصم

The capital city of a country is very often its greatest city, with the largest population and the most important administrative buildings. Capital cities house government offices, as well as embassies from other countries. They are also financial centres, containing national and international banks and other financial institutions.

Amman is no different from other capital cities in this respect – it is the seat of government and the economic and cultural centre of Jordan. Amman has the biggest population of any city in Jordan and is home to about a third of the people – 2.3 million people! Although many of the buildings are very smart and futuristic, the city actually has a history going back over 8,000 years. It was only established as the capital in 1921, but has many ancient buildings.

Brasilia, the capital city of Brazil, is both similar to and different from Amman. Like Amman, it is an administrative centre and contains the key political buildings and institutions. However, unlike Amman, Brasilia is not the major cultural or economic centre of Brazil, and with 2.5 million people, it is home to only a tiny fraction of the huge Brazilian population.

Built in the late 1950s, it is a new city and has only been the capital of Brazil since 1960. It took over from Rio de Janeiro, which remains a major economic and cultural centre, as well as having a population of many millions more. Brasilia is a very modern city and because it is so new, planners were able to strictly regulate its layout. It is divided into sectors, with specific zones for business, industry, government and residential areas.

Question number three

1. Capital cities contain some of the most important institutions. Write down examples of these institutions.
2. There are many differences between Amman and Brasilia. Write down two of these differences.
3. Write down the sentence which shows the time of establishing Amman?
4. There are many aspects of the buildings in Amman, write down two of these aspects?

التكنولوجيا هي سلاح ذو حدين Technology is a double- edged weapon

Our world today has changed a great deal with the aid of information technology. Things that were once done manually or by hand have now become computerized operating systems. There are lots of improvements we are now using because of technology. Nowadays, technology affects people's life.

Technology has many advantages to mention as the following: Technology advances show people a more efficient way to do things, and these processes get results. For example, education has been greatly advanced by the technological advances of computers. Students are able to learn on a global scale without ever leaving their classrooms. Agricultural processes that once required dozens upon dozens of human workers can now be automated, thanks to advances in technology, which means cost-efficiency for farmers. Medical discoveries occur at a much more rapid rate, thanks to machines and computers that aid in the research process and allow for more intense educational research into medical matters.

On the other hand, Technology has many disadvantages, too. For example, the more advanced society becomes technologically, the more people begin to depend on computers and other forms of technology for everyday existence. This means that when a machine breaks or a computer crashes, humans become almost disabled until the problem is resolved. This kind of dependency on technology puts people at a distinct disadvantage, because they become less self-reliant and lazier.

Finally, I'd like to say that our world is changing rapidly the recent changes make our life easier, quicker, and more efficient but we should use technology wisely.
