The next largest sporting events are the summer and Winter Paralympic Games. The first athletic event that was organized specially for disabled athletes took place in 1984. A sports competition was for British ex-soldiers who had disabling injuries. The event took place on the day that the 1984 Summer Olympics in London, England, opened. The Games were called the 1984 International Wheelchair Games. It was believed that they could be helped to get well again, and be given more confidence by taking an active part in sports. Four years later, in 1952, 130 athletes were invited to take part. The first Summer Paralympic Games were held in Rome, Italy, in 1960. The Paralympics are scheduled to take place every four years, and it is arranged that the winter games occur two years after the summer games. The summer programme now includes more sports than the first games, among them athletics, basketball, cycling, rugby tennis and sailing. Rowing is the newest sport on the Paralympics programme, and certainly more sports will be added to the list in the future.
