

Question Number One (20 points) Read the following text carefully, then in your ANSWER BOOKLET answer all the questions that follow. Your answer should be based on the text.

-Text A :Education in Jordan

Jordan has a high standard of education. This is mainly due to the fact that the government considers education a necessity. All schools, from kindergarten to secondary, are the responsibility of the Ministry of Education (MOE). Pre-school and kindergarten education is optional, followed by ten years of free, compulsory education. For higher education, students enter university, either for academic or vocational courses. Students can attend one of ten public universities, or one of nineteen private universities. A large number of Jordanian students choose to study at these institutions, as well as foreign students from all over the world. These are undergraduates studying for a first degree, or postgraduates studying for Master's degree, a PhD or a higher diploma. The three universities with the most undergraduates are the University of Jordan in Amman, Yarmouk University in Irbid and Al Balqa Applied University in Salt. These are all public universities. An example of a newer university is the German-Jordanian University in Amman, which was set up in 2005 CE. It is a collaboration between the MOHE and Germany's Federal Ministry of Education and Research, and it follows Germany's model of education in Applied Sciences. For students who wish to complete their university studies while working at the same time, it is also possible in some Jordanian universities to enroll onto online distance learning programmes. In the future, this option will become available in many other universities.

- 7- What does the underlined pronoun " which" refers to?
The German Jordanian university in Amman
- 8- Distant learning courses are becoming familiar and available in some universities. Think of this statement and in two sentences write down your point of view
I think that is right because there are many people who try to change their career plans , and also some people don't have enough time to enroll into the university.

Text B Does the language we use influence the way we think ? Or does our culture influence the way we use language ?

Sociologists have been looking into this question for hundreds of years. They have now begun to look at not just how people talk, but also how they think, asking whether the way we understand and remember experiences is influenced by language. As a result of these studies, they have come up with some interesting results.

A lot of research has been carried out on the relationships between mind, world and language. In one study, a psychologist points out that when describing an event, English speakers tend to mention the person who was responsible. Whereas English speakers might say, 'John broke the vase', Spanish or Japanese speakers would use a passive form. It is believed that such differences between languages have an effect on how their speakers understand events, and whether someone is blamed for an action or gets away with it.

In one study, a psychologist shows that when describing an event, English speakers tend to mention the person who was responsible. Whereas English speakers might say, 'John broke the vase', Spanish or Japanese speakers would use a passive form. It is believed that such differences between languages have an effect on how their speakers understand events, and whether someone is blamed for an action or gets away with it.

In another study, speakers of English, Spanish and Japanese were asked to watch videos of two people popping balloons, breaking eggs and spilling drinks, either on purpose or accidentally. Later, when asked to recall the videos, the English speakers mentioned the person who did the action. The Spanish and Japanese mentioned the person responsible for intentional events, but left this out when they considered that event to be an accident. Scientists at Newcastle University, UK, have carried out tests to prove that different cultures also have different ways of seeing colours. They found that in Japanese, for example, there are different words for light blue and dark blue which are not found in English. Native speakers of Japanese, therefore, made a clearer distinction between colours on the spectrum.

Is it our language that has affected our way of thinking? Or has a difference in cultural habits affected both our thoughts and our language? Most likely, culture, thought and language have all happened together.

1. Replace the underlined word (happened) with a phrasal verb which has a similar meaning to it.

- Come about

2. What does the underlined word (they) refer to?

People

3. Write down the sentence which shows that relationship between language and culture have been investigated for a long time.

Sociologists have been looking into this question for hundreds of years.

4. Differences between languages are believed to have two effects on their speakers. Write down these two effects.

- whether someone is blamed for an action

- or gets away with it

5. Speakers of different languages were asked to watch videos of two persons doing some actions intentionally or accidentally. Write down two of these actions.

-popping balloons

-breaking eggs

6. Some say that bilingual people have two ways of thinking. Think of this statement, and, in two sentences, write your point of view.

That's right because when master another language, you will know its culture and habits and this will make people who speak that language able to deal with you easily

My job as an interpreter

72 My name is Fatima Musa and I have worked as an interpreter for five years. Many students have emailed me about my work because they want to be know what it would be like to do my job. So here is my reply.

I have always been fond of languages. My father worked in many different countries when I was young and we usually travelled with him. When we visited a country, I always wanted to learn the language. At school I was very good at English. Therefore, I decided on a career as an interpreter.

My job now involves going to important conferences and seminars around the world. When a person speaks in English at a conference, I listen to what they say through headphones. I then translate into Arabic while the speaker is talking. I give the translation through headphones to other people at the meeting. This means that anyone in the room who speaks Arabic can understand what people are saying.

Is it an easy job? Not at all. English is not the same in all English-speaking countries. For example, the English words that are used in India are sometimes different to the words that people use in the UK, the USA or Australia. As well as knowing regional English, you also need to know a lot of specialist language. Some of the words that are used to talk about business, science or law, for example, make it almost a different language!

Unless you have a language degree, you will not be able to become an interpreter. Provided that you have a postgraduate qualification, you will probably get a job as an interpreter quite quickly. If you get an interview for a job, you will need to show that you have good listening skills and a clear speaking voice. You will also need to show that you can think quickly and that you are able to concentrate for long periods of time. If you are successful, it is a secure and rewarding job. You will probably need to travel a lot, but that is not a problem as long as you enjoy visiting other countries.

It is a very responsible job. I am aware that if I translate things badly, it could affect an important law or trade agreement between countries. However, you get a huge feeling of satisfaction when you know that people understand everything that you translate.

1- Replace the underlined verb show with a suitable phrasal verb

- Point out

2- Write down the sentence which shows that English language speakers don't speak the same words

For example , the English words that are used in India are sometimes different to the words that people use in the UK.

3- There are many skills you need to have to be an interpreter , write down two of these skills

- You have good listening skills
- And a clear speaking voice

4- There are different kinds of specialist language . write down two of them

Business
Science

5- What does the underlined pronoun that refers to ?

Some of the words

6- Learning English language have many benefits . suggest three benefits of learning a language

When you learn a language , you will have good job opportunities , you will also be able to communicate with many people worldwide . and you will know different cultures , too.

The elephant, which was reared, not to be an animal that merely carried things around, but for warlike purposes, was half-domesticated. Happily, however, for Mr Fogg, the animal's instruction in this direction had not gone far, and the elephant still preserved its natural gentleness. Negative & positive effects of internet on teenagers تاثير النت على المراهقين

Addiction is one of the prime reasons why teenagers are discouraged from spending more time on the internet that required. Once a teenager gets addicted to the several social networking websites as well as the adult content present on the internet, it is needless to say that their social and academic skills are going to be largely affected by it. Studies show that children who spend more time on the internet as compared to the time spent with their friends and families become reclusive as they grow. Not only this, they also start losing internet in their studies and as a result become a target of social stigma which weighs an individual’s worth and calibre on the basis of the marks obtained by them.

Apart from this, teenagers who are new on the internet often see it as a playground where they have endless things to try and explore. This leads to addiction and them drifting towards exploring different stuff on the internet which involves several chatting websites and content which can leave a deep impression on their young as well as developing minds. For instance, teenagers are seen getting into relationships with people they hardly know on the internet and thus begin the trauma which these young people should not go through at this age, not to forget the impact it has on their academic and social lives.

However, we cannot deny the fact that internet also comes with its set of positives as well. With the huge amount of information present on the internet, teenagers can use it to great extents for academic purposes. It will keep them connected with the outside world which will help them in staying informed about everything that is happening around the world.

Putting it in simple words, we can say that internet is good for teenagers as far as its use is regulated and they are taught about the positives as well as negatives from the beginning. They should be told not to convert it into an addiction. Remember that internet is needful for their academic growth and social development but it is never a necessity.

Argumentative Essay: Why is it so Important to Know More than One Language اهمية تعلم اللغة

We live in a multilingual world that is becoming increasingly globalized and it is therefore very important to know more than one language. There are three main reasons for this: an additional language can help you progress in your career, you gain an awareness of other cultures, and it helps increase our understanding and knowledge of our own language.

More and more job advertisements are now specifying that they want second, third, and even fourth languages in some cases, and knowing more than one language opens up your prospects in a highly important way. Furthermore, as more and more companies begin to trade internationally, people are frequently beginning jobs for which they need no language skills, but then being asked to relocate abroad, or offered a promotion that requires language skills. Therefore, it helps with career enhancement. Some people refute this claim by saying that there are plenty of other jobs available, but this is simply not the case anymore with the global recession and more countries being international.

The second reason that it is important to know more than one language is that it increases cultural awareness and allows you to communicate with different people. All good methods of learning languages also entail learning about another culture, especially when your language skills get to a higher level. This awareness allows people from different nationalities and religions to get along with each other better, which is very important given the high levels of immigration. Many countries with high immigration levels have trouble with a lack of integration, and this is often because of the language barrier, so people end up being segregated, staying in communities where their own language is spoken. Even those that say they don’t care about meeting people of other cultures will have noticed these problems, and should accept the importance of learning other languages.

Finally, people should learn additional languages because it helps with their mastery of their own language and it is proven to be good for the brain. Some people believe that learning more languages leads to confusion, but besides the odd word being misused, this is simply not the case. If you learn a new language, you have to study the grammar from scratch, and therefore end up with a much more in-depth knowledge of grammar as a whole than people who only speak one language. Furthermore, if you learn languages with similar roots learning one can help you learn the others (take French, Spanish and Italian, for example).

Overall there can be no denying that learning languages is wholly positive for individuals and society and that it is highly important to know more than one language. If more people were multilingual, the world would ultimately be a happier and more prosperous place.

"My future career " مهنتي المستقبلية

About my future profession, I began to reflect early enough, because sometimes I like to look into the future, to dream a little, something to plan.

In my family there are a lot of enthusiastic people who love their work: my mother, brother, grandmother and grandfather, my uncle's family, but at the same time, I have often observed that, among their friends, there are people who are unhappy with their work, and sometimes suffer from it. So I want to choose a profession with which, like my family, I would be pleased and will receive from it only pleasure. I do not want to happen a fatal error; I do not want to have prevailed over fear that the years are spent for activity that causes the rejection, live in vain.

In my opinion, a person should do in such a professional business, to which he has the ability and which is willing to dedicate his life. Since I can remember, I have always loved to draw, and now I'm trying to raise my passion to a higher professional level. In parallel with this I study history of art, I really like the world's history, and of course, the history of my country. Based on my interests, I came to the conclusion that I should follow the directions of art history, but within the profession I want more than anything to work with children.

Communicating with kids gives me great joy. I believe that kids need from a very early age to inculcate a love of high art, to develop creativity and artistic taste. I would like to help them find their place in life, that they then do not feel lost and useless, so in the future I see myself as a teacher, or rather the teacher of fine arts. This is very demanding job, as young children take an example from adults, try to imitate them.

When I was a little child , for me, the teacher was very influential man, I am grateful to my teachers, my contribution to the formation and development as a person, in many ways they have helped me to choose my path in life. The teacher influences on the moral and aesthetic education of the child. I want to become a true professional teacher and will do my best for it.

WHAT ARE MY FUTURE PLANS? خططي المستقبلية

I often wonder about my future as I am about to finish secondary school. The number one question on my mind is which profession should I choose? It is very hard to make any definite choices, because I know they will affect me for the rest of my life. I want a profession that will satisfy me, challenge me, and bring me joy. I believe that a job should be like a hobby. I want to love my work, and know that I am making a difference in this world by helping other people.

First of all, I want to finish secondary school. Soon I will take the first important exam of my life - the final graduation exam. I will be tested in four different subjects: the Czech and German languages, biology, and chemistry. After my graduation, I would like to study at the Medical University to become a doctor.

Ever since I was a child, I have dreamt of curing people and healing diseases. It takes a long time to study medicine. It is very difficult and requires a tremendous amount of patience and hard work. I hope that I will be able to meet these challenges, and that my dream will come true. Later, I would like to work in a hospital or in private practice.

During my secondary studies, I worked on biology and chemistry projects. The experience from working on these projects has given me insight into science that far exceeds what I could have learned at school. In addition, I also developed my patience and diligence, and gained valuable experience when I gave public speeches about our research. This opportunity will be a great advantage for my future studies.

During the last few summer vacations, I worked as an assistant nurse at a hospital. I believe that real life experience with patients, medicine, doctors, and nurses is the best start for a future medical student.

I cannot really imagine having a family yet, but I am 18 years old, so I have to start thinking about it

I am personally interested in becoming a doctor, however, there are many different career opportunities. You can work in manufacturing, service, agriculture or business. Everyone has to decide which path is best for him or herself, once they finish elementary school. One option is to continue secondary school. The second option is to choose another branch of the educational system. It is very important to consider your interests when you choose your future profession. Everyone would like to be good at what they choose.
